

Dear FCC,

I am an over the road driver for a trucking company based here in Illinois. I travel throughout the midwest, and I enjoy my XM radio for many reasons. The fact that I can drive all over the MidWest and never change a channel is one of them.

I was excited to learn that XM was going to feature traffic and weather information for many of the cities that I travel in. For me, this is a great benefit that I am glad I now have.

I can continue to use my XM and just switch to the specific channel for that cities traffic and weather information before I arrive in the area. This for me saves me time and the customer money. As well as keeping my appointment. Which for the customer and the consumer becomes savings in the end. And we all like to save money. For I can plan an alternate route long before I get there if I know what is going on.

I ask that you use your power to keep this very important tool available to me and to the other drivers who use this program. Without it, time could be lost. Production could be delayed. And your products could and probably will cost you and your family more in the end. May not sound like much. But to me, a buck is a buck!

Thank you for your consideration in this important matter. If you would like to write an email please feel free to do so. Again, thank you for your service and you consideration.

Sincerely,
Roger L. Kilzer
